

Find books and DVDs with NUCat

NUCat is the virtual home for all items owned by Northwestern University Libraries, such as books, DVDs and electronic resources. Limit your search to materials owned in Qatar or expand your search to include the many NU campus libraries in Evanston and Chicago.

The screenshot shows the NUCat search interface. At the top, there is a header for "NUcat" and "NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES". Below this, there are navigation links for "Library Hours & Locations", "Recalls & Requests", and "Get Help with NUCat". A menu bar contains buttons for "New Search", "Show Headings", "Show Titles", "Search History", "My Account", "Login to MyNUcat", "Special NU Databases", "Help", and "Exit".

The main search area includes a "Database Name" field set to "Northwestern University Libraries". Below this, a note states "Limits are in effect for Title, Journal Title, Keyword, and Guided searches only". There are three tabs: "Search", "Guided Search", and "Course Reserve".

The "Find This:" section has a text input field containing "media and ethics". To the right, the "2. Search in:" dropdown menu is open, showing options: "Keyword (use 'and, or, not')", "Keyword Phrase", "Title (omit articles at the beginning of title-A, An, The, etc.)", "Journal Title (omit articles at the beginning of title-A, An, The, etc.)", "Author (last name, first name)", "Subject Heading", and "Call Number*".

The "3. Limit to (optional):" section has a dropdown menu open, showing options: "No limits", "Electronic Resources", "Serials", "Videorecording", "Sound Recordings, music", "Scores", "Chicago and Hospital Libraries", "Evanston Campus Libraries", and "Qatar Library".

At the bottom of the search area, there are "Search" and "Reset" buttons, and "Choose More Limits" and "Remove Limits" buttons. A note below the buttons states "Limits apply to Title, Journal Title, Keyword and Guided searches only".
